Subject: a matter of national security importance

Dear President Bush, Senator Feingold, Senator Hagel (by Webform), Senator McCain (by Webform), Senator Reid (by Webform), Congressman Ron Paul (by Webform),

Please find below links to an article which I recently had published at these and other financial websites on the Internet.

The information has now been disseminated within the financial community and I urge you to act on the matter as I believe it is of vital strategic and national security concern to the Republic.

In the article, I did not pull any punches, however the intent is to stir action. It is my sincerest hope that this matter is not ignored until a crisis develops.

Sincerely yours,
David Jensen.
